The Battles of Sailor's Creek

On April 6, 1865, Confederate General Robert E Lee's Army of Northern Virginia wearily trudged its way through Amelia County in hopes of reaching greatly needed supplies at Farmville, Virginia. At Sailor's Creek, Union General Ulysses S. Grant's Union forces successfully cut off the line of retreat and attacked the rear guard. The result was an overwhelming Union victory, having captured wagons, artillery, approximately 7,700 combatants, and 8 Confederate generals. 72 hours later, General Lee would be surrendering the remainder of his army to General Grant at the village of Appomattox Court House, thus effectively ending the fighting in Virginia.

Try to remember the most tired you have ever been... Or the most hungry. What did you first eat when you could?

Imagine back to the furthest you have EVER walked or ran at once. How far did you go? Was something chasing you? Have you ever slept in the cold without a tent or blanket?

What's the hardest thing you have ever done?

Think about the soldiers of the American Civil War as you complete this packet and ponder the hardships in which they faced.
